

HOUSE MEMBERS
DISCUSS CUBA

Divide on Political Lines
as Regards Reciprocity Measures Now Being Considered.

DEMOCRATS ANGRY

Taunt the Republicans with the Present Stand
They Take in the Matter.

Washington, Nov. 17.—Cuban reciprocity was launched on the house of representatives Monday, and Williams of Mississippi made his debut as the Democratic leader. He made a strong presentation of the objections of his party to the adoption of the rule preventing amendments, and Mr. De Armond of Missouri, his lieutenant, taunted the insurgent Republicans, who last session voted for the repeal of the differential duty on sugar, with having deserted their constituents for paltry committee assignments. In spite of all the Democrats could do, the Republican ranks remain practically solid, only six Republicans, William Alden Smith, Fordney, Loud and McMoran of Michigan and Brooks and Hogg of California, voting with the Democrats to amend the bill.

Oppose Reduction.
Mr. Payne, Mr. Grosvenor and Mr. Dalzell spoke for the bill, arguing that no harm would be wrought to the sugar or tobacco industries by the perfection of the treaty. They insisted that national pride and honor demanded the passage of the bill.

A minority report, setting forth the views of Messrs. Williams of Mississippi, Swanson of Virginia, McClellan of New York and Clark of Missouri, on the Cuban bill was introduced. They desire to amend the treaty by striking out the provision that no reduction in sugar duty should be made during the life of the compact, and by striking out the differential on refined sugar. Mr. Cooper of Texas, also a member of the minority, presented a report condemning the Cuban treaty in toto on the grounds that it violates all principles of tariff.

Seek to Impeach Judge.
Washington, Nov. 17.—Charges were filed with Speaker Cannon by James W. M. Newlin against Andrew Kirkpatrick, United States district judge for New Jersey. The impeachment of Judge Kirkpatrick is asked on the ground that "he has brought the administration of justice into contempt through his being the active president of a trading corporation." The charges were referred to the judiciary committee.

Porto Rican Delegate.
Washington, Nov. 17.—Representative Cooper of Wisconsin introduced a bill providing for a delegate in the house of representatives from Porto Rico. This island now has a resident commissioner in congress, but this official has no right to address the house. Mr. Cooper's bill places Porto Rico on the same footing with Hawaii in this respect. A similar bill has twice been passed by the house.

Chinese Trade Treaty.
The long expected trade treaty between the United States and China, which was negotiated in Shanghai by the American commissioners and the Chinese representatives, has just reached Washington, and is now under examination by the state department officials. It is the intention to submit the new treaty for ratification to the senate at the earliest possible moment.

Opposes Parish Claim.
Washington, Nov. 17.—Information obtained at the Treasury Department indicates that the comptroller of the treasury will decide adversely the famous parish fee claim, which comes from southern Illinois and which received attention in Congress last session. The auditor for the war department allowed the claim, amounting to $180,000, for ice brought from Lake Pepin, Wis., during the civil war.

To the surprise of the attorneys for the defense the testimony of the stenographer and the report taken at the time of the admissions made by Miller when he was confronted by the postoffice inspectors at the time of his arrest. This has been excluded from the testimony thus far and its admission was being most strenuously fought by Miller's attorneys. During the previous hearing of Miller it was stated the reporter who took the report had been kept hidden by the postoffice inspectors while they examined Miller. The evidence is thought to have been very damaging to the Miller cause.

SAY SENATOR
SOLD OFFICES

The Grand Jury at Omaha Indicts United States Senator on Serious Charge.

PAID FOR PLACES

Allegations Are That the Officials at Hastings, Neb., Paid for Positions.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 17.—The federal grand jury has returned indictments against United States Senator Chas. H. Dietrich, Jacob Fisher and E. A. Francis, all of Hastings, Neb., on the charge of trafficking in postoffices. Jacob Fisher is postmaster at Hastings and E. A. Francis is his assistant. It is charged against Senator Dietrich that he sold the appointment to Fisher for $2,500, and the evidence convincing it to the jurors was produced, showing that Fisher bid this sum for the position to get it, and gave his note for the amount.

Bid for Postoffices.

The Hastings postoffice sale is one of several that were brought to the attention of the grand jury. Charges and evidence were submitted to the jurors, or was ready to be submitted to them, that Senator Dietrich sold to the highest bidder the appointments to the offices at Orleans, Alma, Oxford and Arapahoe, all in Nebraska, although the last two towns did not figure prominently in the investigation. The Hastings case was completed without Fisher or Francis being heard. All witnesses were dismissed, and the foreman of the grand jury told Judge Minger that they cared to listen to no more evidence.

Assesses Employees.

A similar investigation was started by the May term grand jury, but was dismissed before it was well under way. That investigation had its origin in the talk that went the rounds in Hastings. Postmaster Fisher, dissatisfied at having to pay for the office, adopted the expedient of assessing the employees in his office to make up the $2,500, and when the Republican state campaign committee asked him for a contribution he said that, having paid for his office, he did not consider himself bound to aid the party further.

Postmaster Starts Trouble.

Leopold Hahn was postmaster at Hastings before Fisher, and he it is who pushed the investigation. Hahn was not a bidder against Fisher for reappointment, because he had been forced to step down and out by Dietrich because he would not sanction another deal, which is made the basis of another count before the grand jury.

The postoffice at Hastings, it seems, used to be in the Grand Army building. Senator Dietrich built a new block and through his influence at Washington had the postoffice moved to his own building. The rental was first asked at $2,400 annually, although the Dietrich building had been vacant for a time at an asked rental of $600. Hahn declined to sanction the rental, and eventually the building was leased to the government for $1,300.

Two Pay for Office.

At Alma, Neb., Senator Dietrich is said to have instructed J. B. Billings, postmaster, that if he wanted his place a second term he need obtain only the recommendation of State Representative Lowe as a single requisite. When Billings applied to Lowe for the recommendation, he discovered that it would cost him $600. The sum was paid, but afterwards Billings says he discovered that the appointment had been sold to J. J. Mitchell for $1,000.

United States District Attorney W. S. Summers has been persistent in the prosecution. His zeal is explained by some as a piece of politics. Mr. Summers is a candidate for reappointment, and is holding over till a selection can be made, his term having expired a year ago. Senator Dietrich always opposed him. Senator Millard has endorsed Summers, and Senator Dietrich has insisted that Chairman Lindsay of the state central committee be named.

Fisher's Statement.

Postmaster Fisher and his deputy, Edward Francis, both of whom were subpoenaed as witnesses, were seen here, and Mr. Fisher made this statement:

"This is the first I knew of the indictments being returned against Senator Dietrich and myself. I can say, however, that they are the result of political persecution. I have been in Omaha ten days, expecting to appear before the grand jury as a witness. I made application both to the district judge and to Foreman White, to be permitted to make a statement. I was unable to secure a hearing.

The Wood county board has decided to place the question of erecting a soldiers' monument in Grand Rapids before the voters of the county.

BAENSCH MAY BE CANDIDATE NAMED

A LETTER FROM MADISON ON STATE POLITICAL AFFAIRS.

TALK ABOUT WILLRICH CASE

General Gossip on the Many Methods of the Present Machine.

(Special to The Gazette.) Madison, Nov. 17.—Former Lieutenant Governor, Emil Baensch, the well known attorney of Manitowish, would be a candidate for the republican nomination for governor if he were accorded what he calls proper encouragement and support. He has written friends in Milwaukee that he is seriously considering the call made upon him from certain quarters and is pondering upon it. He further states he will go to Milwaukee within the next day or two to confer with friends regarding the matter. This announcement of Mr. Baensch greatly pleases his Madison friends. They know Mr. Baensch to be an able, clean German who can enlist the full strength of his nationality and who would make a most excellent governor.

The Germania One interesting fact is brought out by the present talk. That of the position held by Gerhard Willrich, brother-in-law of Emil von Schleinitz, editor of the Germania, and the relation of the Germania to the state machine. The Germania is the most influential German paper in the state and Mr. Willrich has been receiving marked attention for some time past, evidently with the idea of enlisting this paper in the cause of the machine. He has been receiving pay as a special agent for the administration in the special investigation of the state and penal institutions. This has caused considerable comment throughout the state.

Willrich's Record Willrich is a new lawyer in Milwaukee. His appointment was a crafty piece of work. Last spring he tried to succeed Major Rockwood as secretary of the state board of normal regents and all of the administration members voted for him. But Rockwood, who has been secretary of the board for a quarter of a century was re-elected. Rockwood probably knows more about state institutions than any other member connected with the board.

Brumder, Mad Dame Rumor has it that Mr. Brumder, owner of the Germania, was very wroth when he heard Willrich had a state position. It is said he had an exciting session with brother-in-law Von Schleinitz and asked him who owned the Germania and who dictated its policy. One thing that made him all the more angry was that advances had been made by the administration that he run for mayor of Milwaukee. This was done at personal request of the head of the machine, so the story goes. While Mr. Brumder would make a good mayor his friends could not understand the real motives of the administration in asking him to become a candidate. It has long been known that the conservative element of Milwaukee would long ago have promised him their support had he chosen to stand but the present move could not be understood.

An Insult As the administration has four out of five of the members of the state board under complete control it can not be clearly seen just why Willrich is retained unless it be as an insult to the four men who follow the beck and call of the leader in all matters. The truth is the position Mr. Willrich holds is a snare and he is special agent for the chief executive. In August Willrich spent ten days at the home for the feeble-minded at Chippewa Falls and charged $122.67 and only four days at the intermediate reformatory at Green Bay in September and charged $203.74. Under the law he receives $6.50 per day and expenses while actually engaged in the performance of his official duties. The first month his salary and expenses were charged against the state hunting license fund, but the error was discovered when an opposition newspaper began to ask embarrassing questions.

General Graft Talk about "graft" in large cities—there was never a time in the history of Wisconsin when the state administration was more extravagant than it is at present. There are more state employees, more "state agents," state commissions and state "improvements" than ever before. Wisconsin never in its history spent so much money as it has during the current year. One might cite abundant statistics to corroborate this statement, but it is unnecessary. Despite the fact that there is nearly $1,000,000 in the state treasury derived from the payment of the civil war claim of $458,000 and $200,000 excess from the railroad taxes, and large increases in the receipts of the various state departments, the local taxes are generally higher, than last year. That, at least, is the experience in most of the cities of the state.

No Responsibility The administration really had no more to do with the recovery of the civil war claim of $458,000 than did the most ordinary citizen. Gov. Scofield is the man who first started after that claim in earnest and it was former Attorney General Jim O'Connor who first suggested that the claim might be recovered. As for the increased railroad taxes the administration had no more to do with them than a wooden Indian. No matter who had been governor, the taxes would have been just the same. They came from the increased total receipts of the various railroads, not from any reform source. The railroads pay a certain percentage on their gross earnings, providing their gross earnings are above a certain amount per mile. Owing to the general prosperity of the country the railroads traversing Wisconsin were able last year to earn increased incomes over the preceding year and for that reason they were compelled to pay increased taxes to the state. The taxes of each year are based upon the amount of business done the preceding year.

A Sore Toe If the ordinary man could live in Madison and see the daily conferences of state administration men, how Attorney H. W. Chynoweth comes over to see them at 4 o'clock every afternoon because he is sore at Senator Spooner who failed to have Captain Chynoweth of the regular army promoted as rapidly as he (Attorney Chynoweth) thought he ought to be promoted, and a dozen other state administration men call at the executive office, he could understand in a way how wonderful and powerful the machine is. There has certainly been nothing like it in the history of the state.

Is Back Home The governor has just returned from two weeks spent in South Dakota and Minnesota where he delivered a number of addresses and visited friends. It is understood that he is preparing to announce his candidacy for a third term as governor and that he intends to make a speaking campaign during the winter, his plan being ostensibly to be invited to address farmers' institutes and other rural gatherings while the managers of those affairs will be given a tip to invite him. His literary bureau has again resumed operations in reality and in a short time the state will be flooded with literature explaining why the governor should be given a third term.

EXAMINATIONS IN RAILWAY SERVICE

Applicants for Places Must Take Physical Examinations in the Future.

Some of the large railway system employes are much put out at the adoption by the Wabash plan of a physical examination rule, requiring re-examination of operating employes every five years. They are disgruntled because they believe it is just another link in the plan to employ only young men and that once it will be universal.

General Opinion. Railroad men in Janesville who were interviewed do not deny that in all probability this is just what is intended by the rule. It is not the desire to get rid of old men of course, but protection of the traveling public requires the employment of only able bodied men, and these are best represented among young men. Nearly all railroads have established the minimum of 35 years in the employment of new men for any branch of the service.

Many Roads. Of western roads the St. Louis, Iowa Central and the Soo all give men a physical examination before they are accepted for employment, otherwise there would be no telling what sort of timber they were getting. Because these systems are not so large they do not have a rigid rule for reexamination. The superintendent or trainmaster knows pretty well the condition of the employes at all times, and if it be deemed necessary, a man can be put in the doctor's hands at any time.

Transfer. It is customary to transfer men who are not greatly disabled to other parts of the service. Because a man grows old, it does not absolutely disable him for position as conductor, or even as station agent or operator; but this is said by railroad men to be an individual matter, as some men grow old at 40 and others are young until they are 60. Trainmen are good until found defective. Then the danger point is reached and they must be transferred to less responsible positions or let out.

Even Talks

Whatever may be said to the detriment of "the cup that cheers," no one has yet disputed its pretensions as a great leveller. Under its potent influence pride, vain-glory, and hypocrisy are commonly reputed to take flight and lose themselves for a time. Genius shakes hands with humble toil and the exalted and mighty say to the meek and lowly, even to the grovelling at times—"Have one on me!"

She was a rather elderly woman and her very immediate ancestry, and even she, perhaps, knew well the enchanted rocks and meres, the peat beds, and the goat's milk and "mountain dew" of green old Ireland. She tottered into a judge's court but there was something in her unsteady step that had nothing to do with old age.

A warrant for her son's arrest was what she wanted. He was a bad, ungrateful lad. He got drunk at times and abused his mother, so she said.

"You drink a little, yourself, don't you?" said he of the ermine in a casual, matter-of-fact voice.

"Never a drop. Faith how can you say it—and me a lady!"

"Oh, I thought you did," said the judge softly, accompanying the remark with a dazzling smile.

At the same moment, he thinking himself of some document in the desk which he wanted, he pushed back his chair and reached suddenly for the lower drawer.

The movement was misunderstood. The old lady fairly beamed.

"Well, I do take a nip on occasion and its not for the likes of me to refuse." Then she stopped. The judge had closed the drawer and straightened up in his seat. He held a manuscript in one hand but he was not reading it. He was just regarding the poor old woman with a stony stare.

WITH LINK Gossip of Interests to Railroad AND PIN. Men.

North-Western Road. Mention was made in these columns a few days ago of the separation of the old Minnesota and Dakota division of the North-Western road into two new divisions named after the respective states—the Minnesota 384 miles in extent, to include the lines east of Tracy, Minn., and Watertown, S. D., to the west and Hawarden, Ia. The change was necessitated by increased business. As a result W. D. Beck was appointed superintendent of the Minnesota division to succeed A. L. Goetzman, resigned. O. H. McCarthy was appointed superintendent of the Dakota division, having formerly been assistant superintendent at Winona. Other appointments made were those of J. W. Two through trains, which are known as Nos. 4 and 5, will be discontinued as through trains, and the service between Chicago and Denver will be rearranged, although not demolished.

LIVING COST OF WORKING CLASS

BULLETIN ISSUED SHOWING EXPENSES OF LABORER'S FAMILY.

SHOWS A SMALL INCREASE

Government Investigation Tells of Cost of Supporting Family of Five.

The bureau of labor has issued a bulletin on the cost of living of workmen's families, showing that 2,567 families in 33 states from whom data was obtained the average income per family was $627.19 and the average expenditure for all purposes $768.54. The average expenditure per family for food was $326.90 and the average size of the family was 5.31 persons. The last figure is seventenths above the average of private families in the whole country, as shown by the census of 1900. The food expense is more than 42 1/2 per cent of the expenditure for all purposes. An extended investigation covering 1890 to 1902 shows that the cost of food reached its highest in 1902, the average then being 10.9 per cent above the average of the decade, 1890-1899, and an increase of 16.1 per cent compared with 1896, the year of lowest prices.

It is announced as a conservative conclusion that the increase in the cost of living as a whole, in 1902, when compared with the year of lowest prices, was not over 16.1 per cent, the figure given as the increase in cost of food, as shown by this investigation. This assumes, of course, always the purchase of the same articles and the same quantities in years of low prices, low wages and more or less irregular employment and in years of higher prices, higher wages and steady employment.

Many times during the past year her friends despaired of her life, therefore her death did not come unawares. Their son Martin has been a tireless in the tender care of his mother, in her declining years. Six children remain; John, James, Martin and Michael, two daughters, Mrs. John Harrington and Mrs. B. The wall had just been completed and the masons were putting on the finishing touches, when a heavy wind forced it over. There were four men of the masons and two or three tenders on the scaffold but all except two escaped without serious injuries. Those seriously injured were Henry Conrad, of Tomah, who suffered a fractured hip, a broken nose, besides having his hip badly cut and several teeth knocked out; and Miles Maxwell, of Janesville, who had six ribs broken and received several scalp wounds. Fortunately the scaffolding was erected on the inside of the building as the wall fell out and the men were thrown onto the mass of bricks and timber instead of under it. The injured men were immediately taken to Dr. Nuzum's hospital, where their injuries were cared for, and are doing as nicely as can be expected.

The meat market owned by Terrance Sheridan, was burned; it caught fire from the intense heat and flying sparks from the burning store, everything was done that was possible to save both buildings but the flames gained headway so rapidly it was impossible to save them only the almost superhuman efforts of a band of men on the roof saved Mr. Sheridan's house from sharing the fate of the store and market, many times did the roof catch fire and as many times it was extinguished by these heroic men. ## WHAT IS CATARRH?

Hyomel Cures This Common and Disagreeable Disease.

Hyomel cures catarrh by the simple method of breathing it into the air passages and lungs. It kills the germs of catarrhal poison, heals and soothes the irritated mucous membrane, enters the blood with the oxygen and kills the germs present there, effectually driving this disease from the system.

The complete Hyomel outfit costs but $1.00 and comprises an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomel and a dropper. The inhaler will last a lifetime; and additional bottles of Hyomel can be obtained for 50c.

If you have any of the following symptoms, catarrhal germs are at work somewhere in the mucous membrane of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes or tissues of the lungs.

discharge of blood from the nose stiffness of the nose at night tickling back of the throat formation of crusts in the throat dryness of the throat
in the morning
loss of strength
soreness of the throat cough short and hacking cough worse nights and mornings loss in vital force
a feeling of tightness across the upper part of the chest
Hyomel will destroy activity of all catarrhal germs in the respiratory organs and in a few weeks the cure will be complete.

This is a strong statement, but King's Pharmacy and Peoples Drug Co., emphasize it by agreeing to refund your money if Hyomel does not cure.

offensive breath
dryness of the nose pain across the eyes pain in back of the head pain in front of the head

burning pain in the throat pain in the chest

a cough stitch in side
loss of sleep

Important to Women!

EVERY WOMAN knows that the secret of a successful and happy life lies in preserving the charms she already has, or in restoring those she has lost. She may have the sweetest disposition in the world, but unless nature has bestowed upon her a clear complexion, rounded features, a well-turned neck and beautiful bust she is seriously handicapped. Men are attracted and held by these charms, and she is a wise woman who will strive by every means to preserve or restore these blessings.

THE CITY.

The article recently contributed to the Gazette by "Junius," was more suggestive than advisory. While it was temperate in tone, it expressed the sentiment of thinking people.

It is true that the new council has been handicapped from the day of inauguration, and it is not at all surprising that the business reform issue, on which the men were elected, should be of absorbing interest, neither is it surprising that questions which under ordinary circumstances would dispose of themselves, should assume magnitude under existing conditions.

It is a new experience for a Janesville council to be asked to break up customs which are hoary with age, and establish a new regime, and yet this was one of the main issues of the campaign.

The school board had elected one of their own members as clerk for half a century, with no thought of violating charter provisions, and the council had dealt with individual members in buying supplies, without impurity, for about the same length of time, while the question of spending money was not a question of any particular fund, or where it was coming from, so long as it was provided.

These are some of the things that the council felt called upon to remedy by heroic measures if necessary. To say that the remedy has been effectively applied is repeating a self evident fact.

The interpretation of the law may have been too literal, but of one fact the people are assured, namely, that the city is having an honest and economical administration. Economy in some directions may not be the wisest, but that is a matter of individual judgment. It will require more than 12 months to produce apparent results.

City government is like a chronic disease, habits and customs become thoroughly fixed after years of neglect and indifference, and they can not be corrected, and the body politic restored to health and wholesome condition of a single treatment.

The new council is applying the remedy, and the disease shows evidences of yielding to treatment. The people diagnosed the case and turned it over to men in whom they had confidence.

It is always easier to criticize than to perform, and time, with intelligent treatment is always necessary to permanent recovery.

GREAT SHOWING.

Two millions of dollars a day is a snug sum for the total receipts from the sale of a single agricultural product in a single country, even such a country as the United States. That is the figure shown by the report of the Department of Commerce and Labor, through its Bureau of Statistics, as the value of the cotton exported from the United States in the month of October, 1903.

The preliminary statement of the Bureau for the October exports shows the value of cotton exported in the month of October to be $60,283,412, against $42,000,000 in October, 1902, $46,000,000 in October, 1901, and $60,474,437 in October 1900. The total quantity exported in October, 1903, as shown by this preliminary statement, was 594,540,872 pounds, being an average price of 10.2 cents per pound.

This figure of $60,000,000 receipts for cotton in a single month is not equaled in the history of cotton exports except in the month of October, 1900, when the total value of cotton exported was $60,474,437. Even the figures of $60,283,412 for the month of October 1903, are subject to a slight prospective increase, as this preliminary statement of the Bureau of Statistics does not include distant ports through which small quantities of cotton are exported.

It should be understood from the above statement that the value of cotton exports of the United States averages $2,000,000 per day the year around, although they have averaged $2,000,000 per day during the month of October. Taking the entire year, it may be said, however, that the value of cotton exports now averages $1,000,000 per day, for each business day of the year. In the 12 months ending with October, 1903, the total value of cotton exported was $320,406,314, and in the fiscal year ending June 30, was $316,180,429.

These figures, either those of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, or those of the 12 months ending October 31, 1903, show a larger total than any preceding year in the history of the country. In only two fiscal years in the history of the country has the value of cotton exports exceeded $300,000,000, namely, 1901, $313,673,443, and 1903, $316,180,429. Prior to 1860 the exports of cotton had never reached as much as $200,000,000 in value.

From 1866 to 1900 they ranged between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 and in 1901, for the first time, passed the $300,000,000 line, being as above indicated, $313,673,443; in 1902 they dropped to $290,651,819 and in 1903 were $316,180,429, while in the 12 months ending with October 1903, the total is $320,406,314. In quantity the figures of 1903 do not reach high water mark, being for the fiscal year 3,543,013,022 pounds against 3,850,264,295 in 1898, the year of the largest export in quantity. The increased price, however, has resulted in the facts above stated, a greater total value of cotton exportations in 1903 than in any preceding year.

The total value of cotton and its products exported from the United States in the fiscal year 1903 was $376,767,645, or an average of more than $1,000,000,000 per day.

THE STATE CAMPAIGN.

Should Judge Baenach, of Manitowish, decide to be a candidate for governor before the next republican state convention, the party will have a man about whom it can rally without fear or hesitancy.

The republican press of the state can afford to give him loyal support, and in doing this there will be no occasion to recognize factions, or stir up factional strife.

The governor has not said that he desires to succeed himself, and if he should decide to be a candidate there will be nothing gained by continuing to oppose his ambitions.

Judge Baenach is entitled to the support of the party, and the most effective support that can be rendered is by a clean campaign on the part of the press. This is what he will desire and to this he is entitled.

The most ardent admirers of the governor realize that party harmony is desirable, and they are also conscious of the fact that it can best be secured through the leadership of some man who has not been pronounced as a factional leader.

Judge Baenach is this kind of a man, and there is every reason why he should be given united and hearty support.

Twenty four hundred young women of Paris, employees of the dress-making and millinery establishments have an organization known as the Miletots. They are all pedestrians and on a Saturday afternoon recently turned out in full force to walk 7 1/2 miles in a contest. The prize was won by Miss Jennie Cheminell, in an hour and five minutes. That's good time.

A London girl aspired to a $5,000 income and secured it, but her methods landed her in the lockup for a year. She was a liberal patron of the best jewelry firms in the city, and while waiting for orders to be filled succeeded in stowing away a good stock of fine jewelry. Her pilfering amounted to thousands of dollars before discovery. The way of the transgressor is sometimes hard.

The Chicago Street railway strikers are not making very rapid progress. It is too close to the edge of winter for demonstrations of this kind.

The city of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is stirred up over a $75,000 steal and sensational developments are likely to follow.

PRESS COMMENT.

Milwaukee Sentinel: The Baltimore students who murdered a classmate while putting him through Greek letter fraternity degrees were unfortunate. The young man ought to have been able to stand the punishment without dying.

Chicago Chronicle: Before taking ship for Europe Mr. Bryan indulged in a little further black guardism of the gold democrats. It is to be noted, however, that the gold democrats are not contesting anybody's last will and testament.

Chicago Inter Ocean: The tension must be much greater among the extreme loyalists of Canada than have heretofore supposed when the fact that the appearance of Columbia waving the Stars and Stripes in "The Prince of Pilsen" is sufficient to cause an outburst of indignation in a Montreal audience. This is regrettable in the extreme. Particularly so at a time when we are all looking for that better feeling.

Chicago News: Some authority on the subject of romantic affection ought to write an essay explaining the happy coincidence that the foreigners with the biggest titles are usually loved by the American belles with the biggest fortunes.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: In spite of the fact that it is not the business of the administration to deter-

Had it turned against the Panama it could justly have been accused of compelling congress to Nicaragua; but having acted as it wants to. If it does not want to it would have just cause to condemn the president for pursuing such a course, contrary to precedent, that would have either forced the building of the Nicaragua canal or the indefinite postponement of the canal project.

NOWLAN TOOK CONTROL MONDAY

IS NOW IN CHARGE OF THE NEW POSTOFFICE.

IS FINEST IN WISCONSIN

No City of Janesville's Size Has as Good—Will Move Next Week.

C. H. King, superintendent of construction, U. S. buildings, formally turned over the custodianship of Janesville's new postoffice to Postmaster Nowlan last evening, according to instructions received by the former from the government at Washington. The new structure is entirely finished and the Bower City now possesses as fine a federal building as any town of its size in the country.

Papers Signed Last Evening
Mr. Nowlan has gone over and checked all accounts and lists of material and furniture with Mr. King and the papers which gave him the control of the new repository for Janesville mail were signed late last night. A part of the furniture has not arrived, nor have the rugs for the registry department and the postmaster's office, but besides these and a few minor details, the building is practically ready for occupancy.

Inspector From Washington
Next Tuesday a government inspector will be here from Washington and this will be the last step necessary before the structure can be put in active use. One day and evening after the inspection by Uncle Sam's representative, the rooms will be thrown open to the public and residents will have ample opportunity to appreciate the beauty and usefulness of the government building.

Special Furniture.
In the money order and registry department the furniture, desks and fittings are made especially for the daily transactions of this department and the money order files, cases for blanks and filing cabinets are of the latest design. The cashier's desk is so fitted that the drawers and doors can be automatically locked. The vault in this department is fitted with open shelves for the keeping of all the various sized cards, envelopes, blanks and forms. Mr. King will remain in the city for several weeks and then expects to be ordered to some other town where the erection of a federal building is to be started.

COLDER WEATHER IS DUE WEDNESDAY

Zero Weather Is Expected in Many Parts of the Country.

Tomorrow.
Colder weather than today is promised for Wednesday. The weather man on top of the watch tower in the Auditorium building in Chicago claims he can see it coming from the northwest and has sent out his warning all over the country. He says the thermometer will drop way down Wednesday reaching the neighborhood of zero. As one of the country correspondents said, "Our warm spell has caught a bad cold in this place."

TURBINES FOR WATER POWER

CONCRETE WORK WILL BE FINISHED VERY SOON.

WATER IS NOW OVERCOME

The Water Wheels Have Arrived, and Are of the Latest Design.

The new turbines for the Janesville Electric Co. arrived on the side track near the dam Monday and are being unloaded near the old mill preparatory to placing them in the cement foundations. Two of the wheels which were taken from the old mill have been put in repair and will be used with the new turbines which are of the latest and most approved design.

Mr. Cleveland, of Bushnell, Ill., arrived in the city Saturday and will have charge of the cement work with Mr. Martin who has been overseeing this branch of the construction. Mr. Jackson, of Madison, superintendent engineer stated yesterday that the most difficult part of the concrete work had been overcome, and it is expected that the big boxes which will be placed on the foundations and used as molds for the cement walls, will be set in place by the latter part of the week. After the lowest part of the foundation had been set, steel rails were laid at intervals lengthwise the concrete, more cement was placed on these and rails again laid crosswise. This giving strength to the whole as it hardens into one solid mass. In spite of the volumes of water that spring up from the ground and find entrance from embankments, which hold back the river, the height of the cement is now above the water line and the work will progress with greater speed.

The criticisms and remarks of some spectators who watch the progress of the work at the dam from the river are occasionally amusing. One rather cold morning recently, two men were telling each other how they would proceed were they in charge and it happened that some workmen were busy removing some of the sacks of cement which had been put in place the day before and had therefore, "set." One of these men shivered in the sharp morning air and remarked, "It must have been cold last night, those sacks have been frozen stiff."

CLOSED A LARGE DEAL

Six Thousand Dollar Surplus Shoe Stock Sold to King & Cowles.

Negotiations which have been pending for the past 10 days involving the sale of a large surplus stock of shoes from a well known eastern manufacturer was closed last Tuesday by the local firm of King & Cowles. The deal involved an outlay of $6,000.

Yesterday the first of the stock arrived in the city and a large force of clerks will be busy until tomorrow morning making room for the same, which consists entirely of strictly this year's styles. It is stated by a member of the firm that this stock was purchased at 45 cents on the dollar and will be closed out commencing tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock at the lowest sacrifice prices ever quoted in this city for strictly up to date footwear.

Store will be closed today in order to arrange stock for the sale tomorrow.

BADGERS ARE NOT ALL AFRAID NOW

Claim They Can Beat the Gophers on Thanksgiving Day, Surely.

The Wisconsin coaches and men laugh at Minnesota's boast that the gophers will double Michigan's score against the badgers in the Thanksgiving day game.

"The Minnesota people seem to be carried away with delight at the splendid showing they have made so far this season," said Coach Curtis last night. "Minnesota will not double the Michigan score against Wisconsin. On the contrary, we hope and expect to defeat Minnesota. The score will probably be small, but it will be in our favor."

Assistant Coach McCarthy and Captain Abbott talked the same way. While Wisconsin is somewhat handicapped in having such a hard game as that with Northwestern only four days before the big Minnesota contest, it is generally felt here that, barring accidents, the badgers will have a good fighting chance against the gophers.

All of the men who played in the Michigan game but Bush, right end, are in good condition and were out for practice last night. Bush is troubled with a "charley horse," but is expected to be out for practice tomorrow. Some of the men are pretty stiff and sore yet, but they are coming around all right. Trainer O'Dea says that they will be in good shape for Saturday's game with Northwestern.

INVESTIGATION IN "UNDER WORLD"

OF CHICAGO BEING DIRECTED BY J. M. BOSTWICK AND SHERIFF.

MAY YET TRACETHE BURGLARS

Missing Boat Was Found Late Yesterday Afternoon, But No New Clues Are Discovered

Late yesterday afternoon Officer Fanning discovered in the Spring Brook marshes the row-boat in which the burglars are believed to have made their escape with the stolen property from Bostwicks' store. Certain evidences at the Racine street sand-bar seemed to indicate that a landing had been effected there.

Many Rumors Afloat
There are many who question the theory that the robbers carried away the goods by boat and some of the men working in Nelson's livery barn claim to have heard a team pulling out of the alley some time after midnight. Certain clerks in the store think that some significance is to be attached to the fact that a strange woman called for a sample of silk on Saturday and followed the person who waited on her to the silk counter, thus learning the location of the bolts.

Sheriff in Chicago
Sheriff Appleby and J. M. Bostwick left for Chicago last night and are directing a quiet investigation in the "under world" of that great city. Sheriff Appleby succeeded in recovering some of the goods stolen from Bort, Bailey & Co.'s store in Beloit some years ago by a similar method and there is some hope that he may meet with success in this instance. It is a well known fact that the "human wolves" that haunt certain districts there are ready enough to prey on one another and that little that goes on in the criminal circles escapes their observation.

No word of their plans has reached Janesville and it is not known whether or not any detective agency has been called to assist them. It is quite likely that the stores having frontage on the river bank near the Milwaukee street bridge may secure a watchman to do nothing else but patrol the dangerous alley that runs behind the Bostwick store.

Forty Years Ago...

...Forty Years Ago...
The News.—Gen. Sherman with his 15th army corps, has forced a junction with Gen. Thomas at Chattanooga. The statue of liberty will be raised to its place before the meeting of congress.
The rebels are increasing their force at Chattanooga by railroad from the south. They evidently do not intend to close the campaign without an attempt to drive Thomas out of Chattanooga and Burnside from East Tennessee. It is supposed that a great battle will soon be fought to decide who shall hold possession of Tennessee. We trust our military leaders are prepared for this important event.
Four Unionists have been elected to the Confederate congress from North Carolina.
A military governor is to be appointed for Mississippi, with the view of re-organizing that state.
The French army in Mexico has again taken the field, and several encounters have already taken place with the troops of Juarez. Comandante commands the republican forces. The Chicago Tribune has an account of a brilliant action at Pine Bluff, Ark., which occurred on the 23rd inst., between Col. Clayton, commanding the 5th Kansas and 1st Indiana cavalry and one military company, and 4,000 rebels under Marmaduke, in which the latter was defeated after a four hours' fight. Col. Clayton holds the place.

Bonner, of the New York Ledger, has recently purchased the celebrated Maine trotting horse "Cloudman" for the sum of $20,000. "Cloudman," recently made the best half mile on record, in 1:10.
Barnum has not a new Lilliputian smaller than either Tom Thumb or Commodore Nutt. He is 14 years old, 22 inches high, and weighs 17 pounds.
There has been a universal agreement among all the business men of the city to close their places of business Thanksgiving day. The day will be one of unusual interest, having the recommendation of President Lincoln and Gov. Salomon, and will consequently be observed both as a national and state acknowledgment of the many favors bestowed by a Protecting Providence.
A lady in crinoline knocked over a Londoner by a sweep of her skirts. The gentleman's head struck a curbstone, and he died in a short time. Iron clad vessels and steel clad women are very formidable.

Coming Attractions.

CALENDAR AT MYERS GRAND
Nov. 17.—"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."
Nov. 19.—"Katzenjammer Kids."
Nov. 21.—"Burial at Sea."
Nov. 23.—Trinity Church.
Nov. 24.—"On the Bridge at Midnight."
Nov. 30.—"Dare Devil Doherty."
Mrs. Madge Carr Cook, who is to make her bow as delightful Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch at the Myers Grand theatre, this city this evening, has long been recognized as one of the most expert character comedienne on the American stage. The daughter of a distinguished English tragedienne, the mother of a gifted young star, and an actress herself since the tender years of three (when she made her footlight debut as an unusually young Florence in "Macbeth") Mrs. Cook may well claim special distinction in the theatrical art. She has in her time played many parts, truly, and essayed almost every style of feminine role known to the stage. Since this day she succeeded May Robson in the Lyceum stock, however, she has been conspicuously identified with character work, in which she has scored a number of notable successes. In the last few seasons with the Amelia Bingham company alone she portrayed four such sharply contrasted characters as the society scheming Mrs. Hunter in "The Climbers," eager to enter the "Smart Set," as the affected Marian Stroud Mannerly (once plain Mary Ann) in "Lady Margaret," head of the big dress making establishment, as the wicked, flirtatious Mrs. Chandlee in "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson," and as the hard hearted, vulgar mother, Mrs. Jenkins, in "A Modern Magdalen," who lived on her daughter's shame. It is a far cry, indeed, from this Mrs. Jenkins to dear motherly Mrs. Wiggs and genuine kinship with two of Mrs. Cook's most praised characterizations of seasons past those of the jolly mother in "The Master of Woodbarrow" and the New England type of village matron in Sol Smith Russell's "Peaceful Valley." In both of those warm hearted roles she achieved the very spirit of lovable old Mrs. Wiggs.

Katzenjammer Kids Show.
A screamingly hilarious farce is to be the attraction at the Myers Grand Thursday, Nov. 19th. The Katzenjammer Kids, Blondell & Fennessy's mirth provoking comedy is the attraction billed. The company is composed of nothing but comedians and comedienne who have made for themselves a universal reputation in the different roles they have been engaged to interpret. A bewitching, bewildering bunch of female beauty of course can be looked for in the chorus, who are to assist the principals in discoursing some of the many musical numbers with which the play abounds. It is claimed that a slender and unimportant plot is used as a background for innumerable and absurd antics by capable comedians, clever and eccentric specialties and mirth provoking situations. In fact, it being nothing but a potpourri of nonsense put together for laughing purposes only. An abundance of mechanical and electrical effects and special scenery and properties are used with this company, making one of the most entertaining and best equipped organizations of its class now touring the country.

What Do You Think of A Jack-of-all Trades?

If you had an important lawsuit, the loss of which would mean your financial ruin, would you employ the very best lawyer you could find, or would you trust your interests to a "Jack-of-all-Trades" who practices law one day, medicine the next, dentistry the third, and sells stocks and bonds the fourth?
Most certainly you would search out the experienced attorney, taking every precaution to assure yourself that he was a specialist in the particular branch of law affecting your case. How much more important is your health than your business affairs? The same good sense that guides you in choosing the expert lawyer will lead you to avoid medicines that claim infallibility in curing everything from yellow fever to broken legs.
"Cure-alls" do not appeal to the man or woman of intelligence. Rexall Mucic-Tone is not a "cure-all." It is a new remedy which is designed and built for the sole purpose of curing catarrh—one of the most dangerous diseases that menace mankind. Rexall Mucic-Tone is the specific for the cure of catarrh for which science vainly searched for years.
It remained for a group of famous scientists—physicians and pharmaceutical chemists—working in the laboratories of the United Drug Co., at Boston, to discover the great vital principle which is now revolutionizing the treatment of Catarrh throughout the civilized world. This principle is embodied exclusively in the remedy we are providing sufferers under the name of Rexall Mucic-Tone.

Catarrh may affect the head and throat or the bronchial tubes and lungs. It may affect the stomach and cause dyspepsia. It may affect the liver, kidneys, bladder and cause dyspepsia. It may affect the attacks the delicate organs of the pelvic cavity, where it is known by a variety of names. But no matter where it is, catarrh is a congestion of the mucous cells, followed by inflammation and a purulent discharge. Rexall Mucic-Tone attacks the seat of the disease. It is carried through the myriad of arteries and veins, causing the packed and poisoned mucous cells to release and throw forth the matter contained. This relieves the congestion; the inflammation abates, and the nerve centers take up their regular functions; the discharge ceases, and the various organs are restored to perfect health. This is the new way of treating catarrh—the only way in which it can be actually and positively cured. Rexall Mucic-Tone is the only medicine in the world that will do this. We guarantee that it will cure you, no matter what the nature of your catarrhal trouble or of how long standing—or we will refund your money.

[Copyright, 1894, by Mary Hallock Foote.]

"Dash it, Mike," said Darcie; "I feel as if we were drunk! I feel personally implicated. I'd give a thousand pounds if she was safe home at the mine, or if I thought she'd let me take her home. A jag picnic in the rain isn't just the thing to ask your daughter to, is it, Mike?"

"Mabby 't would be better we put her to bed, and wad us go for the little dother at the mine, and he could bea her home," suggested Mike.

"To the devil with your doctor! Would you like to hear him diagnose the case before her in plain English?"

"Musha, the man has plain sense! And ye e'd aisy give him the wink beforehand. The micheef as it is to find a way to get her home."

"The doctor is not in it, do you understand? I'll take her home myself, if the weather holds up."

"And if she'll consent to go wild ye, which I misdoubt she'll do nothing as the kind. She'd feel safer shaying wld the two av us, than goin' wld wad."

"We shall see," said Darcie. "If she's the lady she looks, she will know by instinct that she is safe with either or both of us, or with forty like us."

"Your father's asleep, Miss a-Bingham."

"Ye niver can tell what notions they'll take," rumbled Mike, in the whisper of a bass drum. "The inshtine av a woman as, does she like him, or does she not."

"Well, is there anything the matter with that?"

"There's nothing the matter wld it on. For him she happens to say her fancy for—T is a good thing kissin' goes for favor—for him that gets the kisses. Belike I'm as honest a man as yourself, but when it comes to seein' her home, I'm like the dother, I'm not in it. It's him wld the shou'thers and the tony walk to him, and the nate pair av hands, she'll take; and there may be inshtine in it, but there's small sense, to be sure."

"Good evening, gentlemen," said Miss Bingham, gayly, putting back the curtains of her tent, and stepping forth into the light. Her high spirits, and her happy ignorance of everything but the bright side of the evening's adventure, struck the young men silent with shame and pity.

"I could smell the most delicious supper cooking," she exclaimed. "I hope I haven't kept you waiting. Why, where—where is he?" She stared in astonishment about the room. "Is not my father here?"

"In bed and asleep, miss, wld his boots on, and happy as a man can be," Mike unhesitatingly informed her, as if it had been the most natural thing in the world for her father to go to bed in his clothes before supper. "Ye'll best not dishturb him, but sit and ate whilst the vittles is hot. He's doin' better where he is."

"In bed! In what bed?" Miss Bingham demanded, her color rising.

"In me ould bunk over anent the wall. And sorry I'd be to have ye go a shype, an' not fit for a lady to put her eye on. The ould man's that weary, sure he's not partle'er; he'd fall asleep in the middle av the road. Will ye please to sit and ate whilst the supper is hot? It'll not improve be standin'."

Miss Bingham turned doubtfully toward the table, anxious, yet unwilling to confess her uneasiness.

"Am I to eat all this nice supper alone? Are you not going to sit down with me?" she asked, looking from one to the other of the two young men, her hosts, passing Darcie by with a blush, and resting her smile upon Mike, who answered, beaming:

"Me supper's ate these two hours, miss; but the long lad there is fasting yet. Sit down an' make less o' yourself!" he whispered to Darcie energetically; "sure I can't break bread beside her!" and Mike displayed his brawny, battered paws, grimy with blue-smoke, and more or less done up as to the fingers in soiled cotton rags, as a reason sufficient.

Darcie took the seat opposite Miss Bingham, and devoted himself, somewhat nervously, to serving her and keeping her attention from her father.

"Everybody is so kind in these extraordinary places," she began, and her voice betrayed her unconfessed anxiety, through the forced society key she had struck into nervously. "It's impossible to believe all that we hear about the trouble with the miners; they seem such respectable men when you meet them." She stopped in confusion, and looked at Darcie helplessly.

"Are you—excuse me—are you a miner?"

"Very much so," Darcie answered, dropping his eyes.

Her own glance fell, and lighted upon a brown, shaggy hand resting upon the table—a hand that looked as if it might have been familiar with golf-stick and tennis racket, or with paddle and gun, but scarcely showed a long acquaintance with pick and barrow and drill. Darcie straightened himself back in his chair, and slipped the telltale member into his pocket. His companion was too observing by far.

"And is he a miner?" she asked, indicating Mike with her eyes.

"Yes, Miss Bingham."

"The same as yourself?"

"We don't inhabit the same person, quite."

"But you do the same work?"

"Yes; only Mike does rather more of it than I do."

Darcie's face wore such an odd, embarrassed, defensive expression that Miss Bingham laughed out loud, a sudden girlish peal that sent light shivers through the young man's nerves; then, as suddenly, her eyes brimmed up with tears. She leaned a little toward him, and asked confidingly:

"Where is my father?"

"He is in bed, I assure you; he's quite used up, you know."

She sighed. "I believe I can't eat any supper; thanks, so much."

"Oh, do—won't you try? I know the stuff's abominable."

"No, it isn't at all; it's very nice. But if you had anything to tell me, you would tell me, wouldn't you?"

"Undoubtedly," Darcie assured her. She did not believe him; but there was nothing to be done but wait for the facts to develop.

Darcie was not conscious how intense was his observation of the girl, while his thoughts were busy with her situation, and his own rather mad plan for taking her father's place. How should he put it before her? In the meantime, how lovely she was! The wind had burned her lips and cheeks, and roughened her fair hair, which made a soft nimbus in the firelight, around her glowing face: the fire was in league with the wind and rain, weaving spells of light and shadow to enhance the charms of color, and feminine expression in line and attitude. Darcie must have looked what he could not say.

"You—you are not an American, are you, Mr.—" Miss Bingham hesitated questioningly.

"Darcie," the presumptive owner of that name subjoined.

"Mr. Darcie?" the girl repeated.

"No"—he dwelt upon the word as if trying to recall her question—"no; I'm a British tenderfoot—not so tender as I was last April."

His accent pleased her very much, though she would not have chosen to acknowledge it: her lips parted in a smile as she repeated his "last April," under her breath, the broad "a" as broadly as possible.

"I'm rather glad, on the whole, that you're not an American," she said. "We are all Americans, and it gets a bit tiresome," she added, with another gleam. "And besides, it helps to account for things."

"Does it?" said Darcie. "I'm very glad if it does. Could you impart some of your light to me?"

"Well," she hesitated. "If you had been an American—with something about you which seems to place you—it would seem odd that one should never have heard of you. I know very few people, of course, because I'm a tenderfoot myself; but my father knows everybody. All the men who come from the east—with letters, you know—sooner or later always visit the mine. This is very absurd of me. There's really no reason why I should insist upon accounting for you. But if you are from the other side, you may know some of our Big Horn people? Some of them are very swell, I believe."

"I know a good many people on the other side who are not swell," Darcie replied evasively.

"But do you know any one of our syndicate?" the girl persisted. "Of course we think everybody has heard of the Big Horn who has ever heard of the Coeur d'Alene."

"Excuse me," said Darcie, clumsily: "I think your shoes are too close to the fire. It's a great bore I can't be accounted for in the usual way," he continued, on resuming his seat; "still, the chances are I'm better as a riddle without the answer. The answer is sure to be stupid. Let us assume that you have placed me, even if you have misplaced me a trifle; it can do no harm for one night. And it may give you that confidence which—which gives me confidence to—offer you my escort to the mine."

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

NAMES DATE FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

Governor La Follette Issues His Annual Thanksgiving Day Proclamation.

Thursday, November 26th, is the day set aside by the governor for the giving of thanks, for eating turkey and watching championship football games. The document was issued yesterday and is as follows: "The president of the United States has proclaimed Thursday, Nov. 26, A. D. 1903, for observance as a day of thanksgiving and prayer for all the people of this country. His appeal to the nation to pray God for the preservation and perpetuity of the government of the people and by the people will find fervent response with the patriotic Christian citizenship of this commonwealth. "The year has been one of general prosperity, social order, peace, happiness and good health to the people of Wisconsin. The labors of a morally sound, intelligent, thrifty, and industrious people have been rewarded bountifully. "In harmony with the proclamation of the president of the United States, in conformity with honored custom, and by authority of law, I, Robert M. La Follette, governor of the state of Wisconsin, set apart and designate Thursday, Nov. 26, 1903, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer to God for his manifold blessing, and for his divine guidance to the people of this state in all the duties and responsibilities of life which await them."

GENERAL NOTES OF THE Y. M. C. A.

Many Changes Are Contemplated—Little Gossip in the Association Circles.

Education classes in bookkeeping, stenography, penmanship and singing will begin at the Y. M. C. A. building Dec. 4th this is a fine opportunity for young men who have been deprived of these opportunities in our schools and colleges, practical men in all these lines will be secured as teachers when ten or more young men register for the above classes. This feature of association work is very popular in all leading cities of our country. Our local Y. M. C. A. hopes the demand will be so large from the young men who wish to improve their leisure hours in the evening so that an assistant secretary can be employed who will have full charge of the development of this special work. New lights have been placed in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium to the great delight of all the members and friends who enjoy the exercises every evening. The work in this department is growing and as one of the officials said today, you can expect a fine gymnasium exhibition in the spring, such as our city will be proud of.

The first monthly reception and social function to be given by the Young Men's Christian association to the members of the association, auxiliary and their friends is being planned for Nov. 27th and will combine a variety of strong features interesting to all.

A necessary change will be made in connection with the bowling alleys and the gymnasium; as it now is the door opening from the bowling alleys interferes with classes. The change will give a separate door to each place.

MOVING PICTURES ARE OBTAINED

Of the Janesville Fire Department Apparatus—Eight Teams in the Run.

A well executed fire run took place shortly after 1:30 o'clock this afternoon when the eight pieces of apparatus of the department passed the camera of the Chicago PolySCOPE company at a gallop. The run was for the purpose of procuring a set of moving pictures to be used at the coming entertainment for the firemen which is to be held at the opera house December 7 and 8. Mr. Persons of the polySCOPE company, took the views of the rapidly moving apparatus and believes that they will be good ones. He also took a series of pictures of the Lewis Knitting works' employees as they were leaving the building at the noon hour. The fire run was south on North Main street and the machine that took the views was situated at the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets.

THE MONDAY CLUB HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

Presents Miss Kellogg With Flowers Before Her Departure—Mrs. Denison Is Next Leader.

The Monday club held its closing meeting last evening in the Congregational church parlors. The topic discussed was: "The Louisiana Purchase," and was ably handled by Miss Kellogg of Madison, who is the leader of the organization. She closed last evening with a vivid portrayal of the expedition into the new territory by Lewis and Clark. Additional interest was added to the discussion by the fact that many of the original documents relating to these events are in the possession of the Wisconsin Historical society at Madison. The club presented Miss Kellogg with some beautiful flowers before her departure. This lecture closed the historical work of the club for the winter and the young lady members will now pursue a biblical course under the able instruction of Mrs. R. C. Denison. The work of the bible class last winter under Mrs. Denison's leadership was voted by the members as one of the most interesting and instructive of their winter's studies.

ENDEAVOR TO RESTORE LIFE WITH A NEW DRUG

Physicians Have Partial Success in Causing Heart to Beat and Blood to Circulate.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 17.—An attempt was made here to bring life back to the body of a man who had been killed by coming into contact with a broken telephone wire that had fallen across a trolley wire. That wonderful drug, adrenalin, first used by Dr. George W. Crile in such experiments, was used in an effort to resuscitate the man. About 5:20 o'clock p. m. Joseph Toth of 1219 Oakdale street while returning home from work ran against a broken telephone wire at the corner of Woodland and Balton avenues and was electrocuted. His body was taken to an undertaking establishment and two hours later three physicians from St. Vincent's hospital experimented on the body with adrenalin. After fifteen minutes of incessant work the heart began to beat very slightly and in a short time the throbbing became more distinct. The blood in the veins began again to course through the body. However, after a short time the heart ceased to beat and the blood stagnated in the body. The physicians declare that had they begun their experiment an hour earlier they would have been successful.
